CLANDESTINE SERVICES REVIEW COURSE NO. 46

DDS SEMINAR

1. What is the DDS/JOT Program and what are its implications to the Clandestine Services?
2. What changes do you foresee over a long-range period - particularly in DDP-DDS relations?
3. What do you consider the most significant problems facing DDS - itself - and in relations with other components of the Agency?
4. What has been the effect on the DDS of the Ops Services Staff in the Clandestine Services?
5. As the Agency has matured has it become more bureaucratic and settled into the ways of the old line executive departments?
6. We have been hearing a lot about the economy drive, how much has the Agency been able to economize and has this hurt our operations? How much longer will this economy trend continue?
7. How has the DDS realigned itself to deal with crisis overseas situations which have been happening with increased frequency over the past several years? Please give examples.
8. Past lecturers have indicated a moticeable increase in work load - in view of personnel cuts at present and in the future, what possibly can be the answer?
9. Wouldn't it be cheaper, more secure and more efficient to build another building at Langley rather than to lease other buildings in the Hqs. area?
10. While undoubtedly untrue, many of us have the feeling that the top management of the Agency has not stood up to the Bureau of the Budget. Don't we have a communication problem here?

11. Will you please discuss the Agency's career management program and whether it has been the success it was meant to be.
12. Will the Government's Medicare Program now being considered have any effect on the hospitalization program for Government employees that is now subsidized by Government contributions.
13. What are your views on automatic data processing and the use of computers? How far can we go in this field and what are its benefits and limitations?
14. Realizing that the Agency has undergone certain major changes in organization during the past three years, what if any other changes are probable in the near future?
